

What happens when a data user requests to use your data?

* The lead data contributor is the team member who sent the dataset to MacaqueNet. Please note, it does not have to be this researcher who emails the data user and management team, but it is recommended that only one data contributor email on behalf of the team.